Blames Police for Harvard Riot

FARM RELIEF BILL VETOED

'ECONOMIC FOLLY' SAYS COOLIDGE IN MESSAGE SENT TO THE SENATE

Washington, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—President Coolidge today vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

The veto virtually killed all hope for farm legislation at this session, both advocates and opponents of the bill having conceded that it will be impossible to muster the two-thirds majority in Congress necessary to override the President's disapproval. In both Senate and House the margin by which the bill was passed was narrow.

The President said in a special message to the Senate that he declined to approve the bill because "the measure discriminates definitely against products which make up what has been universally considered a program of safe farming."

"The bill singles out a few prod-

'POLICE MORE RIOTOUS THAN US,' SAYS STUDENT

The Cambridge police, during the "Battle of Harvard Square," were making more noise than the students and were "grabbing everybody," defense witnesses testified today in East Cambridge District Court.

Only thirteen of the thirty-five Harvard students and only two of the four civilians charged with disturbing the peace in connection with the alleged riot, had defense put in for them.

The cases of the other 22 students and two civilians were rested by counsel without any defense on the ground that none of these had been identified in court as participating in the disturbance.

One defendant and defense witness, John I. Shaw, a Harvard student,

SENATORS OPEN WAR ON FULLER IN BLISS ROW

War was secretly declared against Governor Fuller today by leading members of the Massachusetts Senate as a result of his vitriolic attack on Senator Alvin E. Bliss, whom he accused of receiving thousands of dollars as a paid lobbyist for electric light interests.

In unofficial conference behind closed doors at the State House, they planned ways and means of rebuking the chief executive for so vigorously criticizing the vote of a senator who helped override his veto of a comparatively insignificant bill.

With an air of tenseness, Senators discussed the situation, and though they refrained cautiously from public statements, some of them frank-

CARRY OUT INVALID, 91, 5 TOTS IN WATERTOWN

Five children and three women, including a 91-year-old invalid, were rescued by police today during a fire at Maplewood street and Langdon avenue, Watertown.

Another woman and two men, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mulvihill and M. R. Bradford, escaped unaided.

The fire started in the cellar under the room of the aged invalid, Mrs. E. R. Bradford, and it was her screaming that attracted Police Sergeant Donnelly and Patrolman Murphy.

They sounded an alarm, which called Officers [illegible] Walsh and Liston ahead of the fire apparatus.

Bracing through the smoke-filled two-family house, the five policemen carried out the five Mulvihill children, the invalid, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. M. H. [illegible], and the invalid's nurse, Miss [illegible]. The fire caused damage of $1,000.

Charges Hurled by Fuller and Bliss in Senate Row

Highlights in the charges and counter-charges hurled by Governor Alvan T. Fuller and Senator Alvin E. Bliss of Malden were:

THE GOVERNOR—"For the protection of the unwary, Senator Bliss should be obliged to go about the State House with an electric sign on his hat reading: 'General Electric.' He has been paid thousands as a lobbyist for the electric interests."

SENATOR BLISS—"I am a free man. It sounds to me like something the Governor has wanted to get 'off his chest' for a long time. Governor Fuller has no constitutional right to criticise the vote of an individual Senator."

FOG TIES UP SHIPPING

With no relief promised for at least another 12 hours, Boston continued today in the grip of one of the worst fogs that has blanketed the harbor and coast in many years.

Shipping is at a complete standstill and the loss to navigation companies has mounted high into the thousands.

A cold wind from the west, due sometime yesterday, is expected to dispel the fog and permit shipping, already held up for over 24 hours, to resume its course.

Observation points at Highland Light and Quarantine at noon today reported "no observation," due to the fog, while as far up the harbor as Deer Island there was a visibility of less than 100 yards.

Downtown office buildings were lighted, autos were operated with lights and transportation service in general was hampered by the fog.

In the lower harbor the constant

MANAGER HARRIS WILLS ESTATE TO SOMERVILLE ACTRESS; CONTEST DUE

Amazement and wonder filled the theatre worlds of Boston and New York today when it was learned that Charles S. Harris, late manager of the Keith-Albee Boston theatre, left the residue of his $25,000 estate to his former ticket-seller, a young and pretty Somerville girl.

She is Miss Emily Fuller, now a stock company actress in Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

But the amazement became even greater when it was disclosed by relatives of Harris that four other women claim to be the widows of the 72-year-old veteran of the theatre and right-hand man of the late A. Paul Keith.

The other four women are from New York and claim that they were common law wives of the aged theatre manager, who died last January 19.

And so confident was each of the New York women of her claim that all four New Yorkers were present when Harris' body lay in an undertaking establishment awaiting burial.

RAIL WRECK AT SHIRLEY

Shirley, Mass., Feb. 25.—Rail communication between Boston and Fitchburg was cut off for a time, today, when fifteen loaded cars of a freight train piled up in a wreck, a mile and a half west of this place.

For an hour all rail service was suspended, after which the westbound track was opened and took care of both east and west-bound traffic.

According to officials of the Boston & Maine, the wreck was caused by a dragging brake beam on one of the cars. The freight train was bound for Ayer Junction from East Deerfield. There was no one injured.

SWEETHEART OF TRAIN HOLDUP DEFENDANT WEEPS AT TRIAL

KEEPS HER EYES ON BOYD

named Boyd as one of the three men who occupied the smoking compartment of the combination car, just before the robbery. The other occupants of the car, Jordan said, were a youth of twenty, whom he could not identify and Harry Babcock, a fellow trainman.

Jordan, however, was unable to identify Michael Andrews, 20-year-old youth, whom the government claims was Boyd's accomplice in the holdup, and who, with his father, John Andrews, are now on trial in Federal Court, charged with the crime.

WEEPS AT IDENTIFICATION.

With tears streaming down her cheeks, pretty Mrs. Mary Andrews Kondratuk, who left her husband to flee to Texas with Boyd after the robbery, was unable to check her sobs as the trainman identified her lover as one of the robbers.

Jordan was the first of the "star" witnesses placed on the stand by the government in its effort to send the three Nashua, N. H., men to Atlanta prison for a minimum of [illegible] years for the daring train robbery.

As cool and collected as though he were discussing the weather, Jordan told his story, which reached a climax with the identification of Boyd.

POUCH TRANSFERRED.

Previous witnesses told of $65,000 being sent in a pouch by registered mail from the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston and consigned to the Pow-Wow National Bank of Amesbury, to meet a payroll.

The pouch was carried safely to Newburyport on a train bound for Conway, N. H. At Newburyport, the pouch, and several others were transferred to the Amesbury train, the pouch being turned over to Baggagemaster Jordan, who placed it in the baggage compartment of the combination car, the other end of which was used as a smoker.

"What did you do when the train left Newburyport?" Assistant District Attorney John V. Spaulding asked the baggageman.

"I checked my baggage and made a record of it. Then I entered the passenger smoking car to take a casual look over the occupants."

NAMES MEN IN CAR.

Q.—Whom did you see. A.—I saw three men in the smoker. One was the man I now know as "John Boyd" and the witness gazed directly at the prisoner. Another was Harry Babcock, a trainman, and the third was a boy about 20 years of age.

Michael Andrews, one of the three defendants, was told to stand and the baggagemaster was asked if he could identify the prisoner as the third person in the car. "No, I can't," was the reply.

The baggagemaster then told of his train stopping at Salisbury.

Q.—Did you see or talk with anyone at Salisbury? A.—No. I opened the baggage door, looked out and saw no one so I closed the door and went back to the last seat in the smoker.

Q.—Did you ever see Boyd before that morning? A.—I saw him twice before that, about four or five weeks before that day.

JUMPED OFF TRAIN.

Q.—What happened next? A.—I was sitting there making up my reports when I was startled by a poke in the ribs and I heard a person say "Put them up, keep them up and get money."

Q.—What happened next? A.—I looked up quickly and saw Boyd coming up the car waving a gun in his hand and he looked me into the baggage car, keeping the gun pointed at me. I was horrified and confused and ran out the back door of the car and jumped off. I was dazed in the jump, but I ran to the Salisbury station and told the station agent and asked him to notify Amesbury and also Boston.

John J. Quill, baggagemaster for the Boston & Maine at Newburyport, told of how the money was transferred from the Conway train to the Amesbury train at his station. The pouch containing the $65,000 was taken from one train to the other along with other mail pouches on a small truck, he said. He threw the pouches into the Amesbury train, but got no receipt for them.

Daniel J. Lynch, a Newburyport policeman, testified that every Thursday morning he is on duty at the Newburyport station to see that payroll funds for Amesbury are safely transferred from one train to the other.

Attorneys for the men accused of the robbery, in cross-examination, endeavored to link up Baggage Master Jackson as a possible accomplice of John Boyd.

"Did you ever have a conversation with John Boyd on your train prior to the holdup?" Major Eaton of the defense counsel asked them. The answer was an emphatic "No."

Q.—Didn't you have some conversation with him about having "easy money"? A.—No.

SCAR ON BOYD'S FACE.

A faint scar on Boyd's face which extends from his forehead across his left cheek caused defense counsel to endeavor to trip up the baggagemaster's identification. The scar is not prominent and is from an injury many years old.

Q.—Did you give a description of Boyd to the authorities after the robbery? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you mention anything about the scar? A.—I think I did.

Q.—When did you first see that scar? A.—The first time I saw Boyd, about four or five weeks before.

Q.—How did you notice it? A.—I looked casually at Boyd as I walked through the car to get a drink of water.

Major Eaton then called Boyd from the prisoner's cage. Placing the accused man before the jury, the attorney trained a strong light on Boyd's face, the evident object being to show that under a bright light the scar was scarcely noticeable.

On a seat as near the prisoners as she could get, today, sat pretty Mary Andrews Kondratuk, daughter of the elder Andrews and sweetheart of Boyd. The woman controlled her emotions with visible effort when the three prisoners, manacled together, were ushered into the Federal Court of Judge Morton.

But when the court ordered the prisoners away from their counsel's table and into an iron cage the girl broke down.

DAUGHTER WEEPS.

Tears rolled down the girl's eyes and it was with great effort she checked the sobs that shook her body.

As the government witnesses traced the course of the fateful $65,000 from the time it left the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston, the girl's tear-dimmed eyes never left Boyd's face.

It was for Boyd that the girl deserted her husband in Chelsea last Fall, and went with Boyd to Texas, where she lived with him, and where the government contends they purchased a store with a part of the stolen plunder.

Two rows away from the emotion stricken woman in the courtroom, sat an officer from Pennsylvania. He is grimly waiting for the government to conclude its case against Boyd. He holds a warrant for Boyd charging the prisoner with the murder of his wife in Philadelphia, more than a year ago.

The Kondratuk woman knows this officer is near her and knows his mission, but her gaze never leaves the face of the man she loves. Mrs. Kondratuk may take the witness stand at any time, but the government attorneys have no idea how much of her romance with Boyd will come from her lips.

Assistant United States District Attorney John V. Spaulding today continued the policy of the government in conducting the trial. Inch by inch, the course of the fateful $65,000 is being traced from the doors of the Federal Reserve bank.

The climax is expected when the scene of the bold robbery at Bartlett's Crossing, near Amesbury, is reached. Former witnesses have told of the order being received at the Federal Reserve Bank from the Pow-Wow National Bank of Amesbury for the money to meet a payroll.

CLERK TESTIFIES.

Today Leavitt B. Brown, a railway mail clerk, testified to receiving the pouch containing the money at North Station at 5:40 a. m. on July 26, 1926, the day of the robbery.

"I was in charge of the mail car running from Boston to North Conway, N. H.," Brown testified.

"When I received the pouch from the bank messenger I gave him a receipt and made the proper entries on my own record. I knew the pouch contained money. The original pouch, containing the money, was locked with what we call a rotary lock.

"My duty was to transfer the pouch at Newburyport, so that it would be taken to Amesbury on another train. Before our train reached Newburyport, as an added precaution, I placed the pouch with the rotary lock inside another pouch with a different styled lock.

"At Newport I turned the pouch over to the proper persons, to be placed on the Amesbury train. I secured my receipts for the pouch and that ended my interest in the matter."

The receipts signed by Brown and those he received at Newburyport for the pouch were offered in evidence.

SHIPPING TIEUP IN DENSE FOG

clanging of fog bells and the sounding of sirens indicated a large amount of shipping is tied up by the fog.

The liner Westphalia, with several hundred passengers aboard, and due to dock in Boston at 9 a. m., was held at Quarantine by the fog.

The Metropolitan Coal Company is the heaviest loser as a result of the fog. Barge No. 15 of the company, carrying 1,425 tons of bituminous coal, is a total loss on Pinnacle Rock, off Graves Light, the bottom of the barge having been stove in. Two other barges and the tug Piedmont narrowly escaped the rocks.

According to weather reports, there will be rainfall late tonight and early tomorrow, followed by a cold wave which is now sweeping from the west. The cold will not be intense.

The steamship Wilton from Portland was the only one to push through the murk to her dock, tieing up at Central Wharf at 3 a. m.

The steamship Elisha Walker, en route to Aruba, stopped at Quarantine for fumigation, and was tied in by the fog. The British steamship Theseus for New York was still off Quarantine today after leaving her berth yesterday.

In the same locality the steamship Evansville, which figured in a crash last week, was tied up as she headed for New York for survey of damage done to her bow and top rigging.

The Merchants & Miners' steamship Grecian, due to leave yesterday for Philadelphia, and the Tuscan for Norfolk, were still at the South Boston dock today.

The steamer I. C. White, due to leave yesterday for Tampico, remained at her berth at Chelsea.

Four 'Widows' Seek to Share Harris Will

Harris died in Watertown. He is survived by a brother, George S. Harris, Commonwealth avenue; a niece, Rose Davis; a nephew, George K. Meyers, and a cousin, Albert J. Harris, all of New York. To his brother's knowledge there had been no will and it was thought the manager left but little.

However, Judge J. Albert Brackett appeared in Suffolk Court with the last will and testament of the manager, naming the judge as administrator. Attorney Guy Healey represents Judge Brackett. George Harris had already petitioned Middlesex Probate Court to be administrator.

PLAN FIGHT OVER WILL.

Suffolk County does not include Watertown, where Harris lived up to the time of his death. The papers were transferred, but the will has not as yet been made public. It will be contested by the surviving relatives.

It leaves everything "after payment of just debts" to Emily Fuller of Somerville, whose age is variously estimated at 24 or 30.

Miss Fuller is well known to patrons of the old Boston Theatre. Her mother, also well known, is matron at the theatre. For several years Emily sold tickets at the show house.

The will, which is in the hands of Judge Brackett, was made in 1919. At present the will stands as the only such instrument and will be filed in Middlesex Probate Court shortly.

The presence of such a will came as a surprise to George Harris, whose first intimation that his brother left an estate came when Emily Fuller attended the Harris funeral services and wept over his bier.

Before this, according to relatives, the four women from New York had come to the undertaking establishment also to shed tears and each one told the undertaker:

"I am his wife from New York."

The contents of the will have been kept a secret. Judge Brackett and Attorney Healey, however, said today they had nothing to conceal and said they are awaiting action in Middlesex Probate Court on the judge's petition to be administrator.

Attorney Samuel O. Reinstein, who represents George Harris and Attorney John J. Enright, representing New York relatives, would say nothing about the will and the many "wives" who want a share in the Harris estate.

It was learned that the estate has been estimated at from $25,000 to $35,000.

Mrs Emily Fuller, mother of the former ticket seller, declared today that her daughter was left money by Harris because of the manager's regard for her, the mother.

"He told me, back in 1919, that he wanted to leave me something in his will, but I told him not to think of such a thing," she said.

"Mr. Harris died of broken heart because they had taken from him the management of the Boston Theatre.

"He had grown careless of his appearance during the last few years and I used to take care of him, see that he dressed neatly and tidily and keep him looking nice. I was the matron at the Bijou Theatre and of course knew him well for many years.

"He left Emily the money just to be nice to me. His wife died in 1923. He was kind to everybody, always helping others with money.

HAD NO LOVE AFFAIR.

"My daughter had no afair with him. She is now in stock in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and is coming home next week. I don't know why there is such a furore about the money for there is nothing but a 'shoestring' left of the estate.

"I know nothing about four women in New York claiming to be his widows. It sounds like a 'frame-up,' but I don't accuse anybody. He never was in New York except for short visits and I do not believe a word about the other 'wives.'"

Judge Brackett said today he does not believe the statement that four New York women claim to be widows of the late manager.

"I was at the funeral of 'Charley' Harris and I think I knew everybody there," he said. "There were certainly not four 'wives' present at the funeral.

"Charley had one wife, Nellie Butler, who won fame in the show, 'A Trip to Chinatown,' but they were divorced and she died. Charley was sorrowful at the time of her death."

OPEN FIGHT FOR $2,000,000 ESTATE

A legal battle to gain possession of a $2,200,000 estate was begun today by Bertrand A. Ray, a 62-year-old former U. S. Customs employe at Gloucester.

The estate is that of Ray's brother, Frederick L. Ray of East Haddam, Ct., who died leaving the Gloucester man $50,000 in trust and the bulk of his property to found a trade school.

An action involving $1,000,000 against a powerful trust company of Hartford, Ct., will be filed next Saturday, according to Ray's lawyer, Joseph H. Leddy of No. 45 Newbury street, Back Bay, as the first step in the fight to gain the huge fortune.

Undue influence was exerted on Frederick Ray in the signing of the will, according to Atty. Leddy, speaking today for Bertrand Ray. It is also claimed Frederick Ray made a contract agreement with his brother to leave his property to him.

The fortune was originally garnered by the father of the two brothers in the manufacture of metal handles for caskets, and the property now comprises 90 acres of land in East Haddam, a 16-room mansion and approximately $2,000,000 in high-grade stocks and bonds.

Bertrand Ray is now living on the East Haddam estate with his wife, having left a good position to go there, according to his claim, at the suggestion of his brother. Frederick Ray died from an operation last November, two weeks after the questioned will was signed.

HIGH PRICE THREATENS HARD COAL MARKET IN U. S.

That the anthracite [illegible] must make a substantial reduction in price, and put a cleaner and better prepared product if it hopes to prevent a further loss of its market in Massachusetts, was the warning given today by the Commission on the Necessities of Life.

"The exceedingly high price of anthracite—[illegible] a ton delivered in 1915, compared with $15.50 a ton this year—is restricting its use," the commission disclosed.

More than 1,400,000 tons of hard coal has been received in the State from April 1, 1926, up to the first of the present month. Normally the State uses more than 3,000,000 tons.

DAM BILL CAUSE OF SENATE JAM

Washington, Feb. 25.—Although assured of a vote tomorrow on the Johnson petition invoking cloture, the Boulder Dam bill was threatened in the Senate today on every side by drives to displace it in favor of other legislation.

One of the worst legislative jams in memory developed in the Senate as a result of the filibuster against the Boulder Dam measure. A dozen other bills of major importance languished while Senators fought over the Colorado River bill. Few of these can be passed unless the Boulder Dam filibuster is broken.

The fighting chance for Senator Johnson (R.) of California to win his fight for the bill lay in the possibility that two-thirds of the Senate will vote for cloture to end the filibuster.

The immediate conflict facing the Senate as it met today was a race between sponsors of the new public buildings and the alien property bills for the opportunity to displace the Boulder Dam measure.

George Washington ∾ Pretty Boston Girls ∾ By W. E. Woodward

BACKS HAMILTON

Washington stood firmly in back of Hamilton's policy of the national bank. He met all criticism without concession and defended the policy when it was attacked, because he saw that Hamilton stood for financial stability and prosperity for all.

COMPLIMENTARY

On a visit to Boston, Washington visited an oil-cloth factory. A merchant, describing the event in a letter, wrote that Washington "made himself merry" on this occasion, telling the overseer he believed they collected the prettiest girls of Boston.

PEOPLE'S HERO

Washington refused a third term of office. On his way back to his home at Mount Vernon, Va., in March, 1789, the people showed their love and esteem of him by spontaneous demonstrations. He was escorted through every town by the citizens.

PLEADS FOR UNION

Before leaving office Washington issued a farewell address to the American people. It has become one of the classics of American political literature. In it he pleaded for closer union between the States, and warned against foreign entanglements.

GIRL SUES 'L' FOR $100,000

Suit for $100,000 damages against the Boston Elevated was filed in Suffolk Superior Court today by Attorney John J. Enright, representing Miss Nellie Silverstein, Fabyan street, Dorchester.

She has been in serious condition at the City Hospital since Jan. 21 when she was struck by a street car on Tremont street, Roxbury.

She suffered a fractured skull and two broken legs, according to the plaintiff, and doctors still hold slight hope for her recovery.

TRUCK KILLS CAMBRIDGE BOY; DRIVER RUNS AWAY

Cambridge and Boston police are searching for the driver of a truck which ran down and almost instantly killed Joseph Diano, 9, of Allston street, Cambridge, today. The truck, loaded with iron, ran over the boy at Pearl street and Putnam avenue, Cambridge. The driver of the machine speeded up the truck and escaped without anyone securing the machine's registration.

SAY POLICE WORSE THAN STUDENTS

...ior living in Randolph Hall, testified he was clubbed by several policemen while proceeding peaceably to his dormitory with Arthur Clement, a Harvard square tobacconist, also a defendant.

Shaw, whose home is in Winnetka, Ill., was questioned in direct examination and said he had attended the midnight show in the University Theatre, left the theatre, was chased by policemen into the Harvard yard and then asked College Officer William McNamara to escort him home.

"I asked him if he could conduct me at least across the street," Shaw testified. "I told him I was only going back to my dormitory."

Q.—Was there any crowd in the square at that time? A.—Yes, there was a scattered crowd.

Q.—Where did you go then? A.—I walked with Mr. McNamara toward Boston and when we got to Holyoke street I met a friend, Arthur Clement. Mr. McNamara explained to Mr. Clement that he was taking me down to my dormitory. Mr. Clement said he was going down our way and he suggested that he take me. Mr. McNamara left me.

Q.—What happened after that? A.—We walked toward Holyoke street. About five streets from the corner there was a patrol wagon. It ... stopped when the officers ... for us. They made a grab ... and I put my hands ... head. One officer struck at ... missed and smashed a window ... in the building. Blows ... on my hands." One blow ... head. It partly stunned me, and ... I remember was being in the wagon. Before the police ... strike one. I tried to explain ... I was on my way to my dormitory and that I had been escorted by a college officer up to the time they took hold of me.

TAKEN FOR WALK.

Q.—How long were you in the police station? A.—I believe it was ... o'clock that morning.

Q.—While you were in the station did you leave the station for any time? A.—Yes, an officer went ... with me for about five minutes. I lost a lot of blood.

Q.—Do you remember fainting in the police station? A.—No, sir, I ... lose consciousness.

Cross-examination of Shaw by City Solicitor Nelligan:

Q.—Who was with you that night? A.—I had rather not give his name.

Q.—Were you drinking that night? A.—Yes, I had two highballs.

HAD TWO DRINKS.

Q.—Wasn't it on account of your drinking that you needed an escort? A.—No. I had been chased by an officer and I did not want to be arrested.

Q.—You know it was dangerous going back into the street after you were chased into the yard? A.—Yes, but not with a college officer.

The college officer, William J. McNamara, then corroborated Shaw's testimony generally.

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, who sat through the trial a week ago, was also missing today, but Dean Chester N. Greenough and Assistant Dean Robert E. Bacon were present.

Although Dean Greenough in a letter to college defendants and witnesses had asked that they request friends to remain away from the courtroom if only spectators, and the Harvard Crimson had made the same suggestion editorially, a huge throng of watchers showed up and jammed the room.

Those students who could not find seats or perching places on the backs of occupied seats sat on the floor.

SCARS CONCEALED.

Many carried text books and apparently studied when testimony was dull.

Oliver D. Ferguson, student, who is also charged with assault and battery on two police officers, had shed his head bandage, but wore his hair in a bang that swept across his forehead, partially concealing a scar.

Defendant John McCullom, who had worn a cocoon on his chin last week, had put that off and his scar showed plainly.

But John I. Shaw, another defendant, had only progressed the bandage to the cocoon stage, and wore the white, cottony patch atop his head.

Another defendant who stood out from the throng was William Grossman, Harvard student who sports a titian Vandyke.

The trial nearly acquired another principal today when a court officer, spying a huge foreigner in the corridor and noting a bandage decorating his head and including one ear, insisted that the bland-faced stranger hustle into court, as it was about to begin proceedings.

THEATRE MAN TESTIFIES.

But the round-f...d stranger only gazed at the officer in mild interest. The situation was cleared up when students explained that the bandaged one must have been in a private fight of his own, because he was not a Harvard defendant.

Stanley Sumner, manager of the University Theatre, first witness, testified the smoker and stag attended by Harvard students in his theatre ended its show at 1:20 a. m. February 12.

When asked if there was any disorder in the theatre Sumner's answer was blocked by an objection from Judge Frederic Chase, one of defence counsel. Then the manager was excused.

Randall E. Stratton of the Harvard School of Business Administration testified he was an usher at the theatre and left the playhouse twenty-five minutes after the show ended.

He said he saw a crowd gathered around the "pill box" in the square and saw two youths being placed in two patrol wagons, one man to each. But the witness declared he saw no missiles thrown and saw no persons struck "by ice or eggs."

SAW NOTHING UNUSUAL.

Another student-usher at the theatre, Charles H. Abbott of Holyoke street, followed on the stand and was questioned by City Solicitor Peter F. Nelligan, prosecutor:

Q.—What time did you leave the theatre? A.—About half an hour after the performance was over.

Q.—Did you see anything unusual in the vicinity? A.—I saw a crowd at Dunster street where it meets Massachusetts avenue.

Q.—Did you see anything unusual? A.—No, I saw nothing unusual.

Q.—Did you see any missiles thrown? A.—No.

Q.—Did you see any persons arrested? A.—No.

Q.—What did you do? A.—I kept right on going.

Q.—Toward Holyoke street? A.—Yes, toward my rooms.

HE SAW CROWD.

John J. Walsh of Woodford street, Dorchester, manager of the Georgian Restaurant, denied in his testimony that he had locked his restaurant doors against the student throng following the theatre party.

Questioned by Solicitor Nelligan:

Q.—Were you on duty at the restaurant on the night of the disturbance? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you see a crowd gathered outside? A.—I noticed a crowd leaving the theatre.

Q.—Was there anything unusual about their appearance? A.—They were boisterous.

DOORS NOT LOCKED.

Q.—Did any go into your restaurant? A.—No.

Q.—Were your doors locked against them? A.—Ah, no.

Q.—Are you certain of that? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you tell Sergeant Stokes previously that you had locked the doors? A.—I did not tell him that.

Q.—Did you notice anything unusual about the crowd? A.—No.

Louis J. Martin, night manager of the Traymore Restaurant in Harvard square, also said his doors were not barred to the students.

Q.—Did you notice anything out of the ordinary on the night of the disturbance? A.—No, I noticed nothing in particular.

Q.—Well, you saw a crowd outside, didn't you? A.—Yes. They were gathered outside the window.

Q.—Did you see any arrests made or missiles thrown? A.—No.

Q.—Did you see a patrol wagon? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you see police officers? A.—Yes.

Q.—What were they doing? A.—Just standing around.

Q.—Did any of the crowd go into your place? A.—Yes.

Q.—Anything unusual about the crowd? A.—No, they were orderly.

Q.—Were your doors locked against them at any time? A.—No.

Wise men will tell you that "going short" in this country, just now, is like trying to swim up Niagara Falls.

Great Britain sends a battleship to Nicaragua to protect nationals there. This country offers no Monroe Doctrine since no troops are landed, and the ships are sent merely to provide a refuge for British subjects in case of need.

It is the business of this country to see that foreigners and their property are fairly treated, south of us, while we forbid Europe to use force there.

THE WORLD takes seriously the story that Russian propaganda stirred the trouble in China. There is talk of a Russian army marching in to help the ultra "Red" Chinese forces. Great Britain, as you know, threatens to end diplomatic relations with Russia. Uncle Sam would do well to stay out of that mess if he can.

SHANGHAI WONDERS what would happen if Cantonese "Red" revels should take the city, where thousands of European live.

An interesting picture in this age is the staunch Chinese executioner with his heavy sword, a dozen or more such executioners, patrolling dissatisfied Shanghai districts, lopping off heads of those accused of planning the strike.

The simplicity of that method would appeal to some to the United States, but they won't say so.

MR. B. C. FORBES, who knows high finance, says the big Rockefeller fortune really belongs to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to whom the father has given it, and says that fortune does not amount to a billion, quoting Mr. Rockefeller as authority.

Mr. Rockefeller, of course, can not know what he is worth, and holders of Standard Oil stocks cannot know what their stocks are worth. It all depends on how much oil there is in the ground, and at which price the last few billions of barrels will be the supply runs short.

BY THE PURCHASE of the Pacific Oil Company, the Standard Oil Company of California acquired, and owns, no one ground, wealth greater than all that Standard Oil has ever paid out.

MUCH IMPORTANT than the size of Mr. Rockefeller's fortune is the use he makes of it. He has gathered it by carefully and given it back liberally. Thus far the gifts to science and education, including the fight against disease, and the effort to eradicate specific diseases, amount to more than $500,000,000.

Even the good Communist who believes that everything should belong to the people and be divided will admit that it is better to have one man of intelligence gather a thousand millions and spend the money intelligently than to have a million people get it and spend it in small dribbles for soda water and ice cream, with nothing to show for it afterward.

GREAT FINANCIAL power, like great water power, requires volume, and properly harnessed, to a power for good.

You cannot do much with little streams.

THIRTY EDITORS of the U. S. A., expenses paid by Carnegie's Foundation, will study the League of Nations "in operation." Very interesting.

Perhaps now the Rockefeller Foundation will send thirty other editors to China and let them study the League of Nations NOT in operation.

CHARGE HAYS IS HEAD OF BIG FILM TRUST

Washington, Feb. 25 (I.N.S.)—A complaint charging the existence of a gigantic moving picture trust, comprising all the corporations governed by Will H. Hays, movie "czar," has been filed with the Department of Justice with demand for an investigation, it was learned today.

Aside from admitting that a complaint against the alleged "Hays trust" had been received from Frank J. Hembusch, head of the Motion Picture Owners' Association of Indiana, and that an inquiry would be made, Justice Department officials declined to comment.

Hembusch may be requested to furnish additional facts and the Department may summon a score of the entire motion picture industry to determine whether the Sherman and Clayton laws have been violated.

Hembusch alleges all companies operating under Hays comprise a trust and independents are unable to break into the movie business without his sanction.

The Hays association is said to control about 95 per cent of the moving picture industry.

"If a theatre owner complains his character and business are subject to questionings," Hembusch avers. "Often if a theatre owner refuses to buy a picture they will send agents to destroy the good will he has with patrons and threaten to build a theatre in competition. 'Tis little matter they force him to buy their pictures."

The death list is now fixed at forty, while it is believed that close to one hundred suffered injuries. A broken axle caused a derailment and wooden cars telescoped and smashed into bits.

'SUICIDE' GIRL AGAIN HAPPY WITH LEO

Romance has flowered again for pretty 17-year-old Edna Stockman of [illegible] street, Roxbury, who was discharged from the City Hospital today after an unsuccessful attempt to end her own life.

The girl's sweetheart, Leo Moran, [illegible]-year-old printer of No. 25 Shirley street, Roxbury, was waiting for her when she was discharged from the hospital, and once more they are happy, contented lovers.

Edna's attempt at suicide, it developed, was entirely the result of a misunderstanding. She believed when Leo returned a ring to her mother that he was putting her out of his life.

Leo, [illegible] explained today that he is the sole support of his widowed mother and [illegible] younger brothers, and that his salary of $30 would not be enough to permit him to get married and still discharge his duties to the family of which he is head.

The pair have been sweethearts for several years. The girl wished to get married and became impatient. Leo, struggling under the load that was heavy beyond his years, knew that the wedding could not be held at the present time. The couple quarreled. Then Leo returned a ring the girl had given him for a birthday present.

Broken-hearted, because she believed her love was being spurned, the girl swallowed poison. Her sweetheart was one of the first at her bedside when she was rushed to the City Hospital.

Medical science saved the girl's life and the happy reconciliation followed.

The policeman, Patrolman Robert E. Lyon, was arrested on a charge of drunken driving and operating so as to endanger lives and safety. His companion, Edward Johnson of No. [illegible] Colonial road, Cranston, a salesman and owner of the machine, was arrested on a charge of intoxication.

BRETT, PEEVED, REPUDIATES 'PEACHES'

Donald Brett, wealthy young business man and golfer, whose name was linked with that of "Peaches" Heenan Browning in dispatches from Bermuda and New York, arrived at his home in Brookline from New York today.

Young Brett indignantly denied that he had manifested the least interest in "Peaches" during his sojourn in Bermuda or on the homeward journey on the steamship St. George.

Such quotations as "She is everything in the world to me" and "She is an inspiration," which had been attributed to him in telegraphic dispatches, Brett branded as downright inventions.

MET HER ONLY

Brett was dumbfounded and indignant when he arrived home to learn that his name and that of the family had been bandied with that of "Peaches."

"Donald, always fond of golf, spent much of his time on the links in Bermuda. This brought him in touch with a group of young folks, all guests at Hotel Hamilton, where he was stopping.

SAID ONLY "HOWDY."

"One day one of the young men introduced 'Peaches' Browning to the crowd.

"Donald acknowledged the introduction as did the others, but the only words he ever spoke to the girl in his life were 'How do you do?'

"Donald told us that he never gave an interview on the subject in New York or in Bermuda and that whatever quotations were attributed to him were false.

"The reports have been very distasteful to him and his family and we regret them very much."

DIAZ BEGS FOR U. S. CONTROL IN NICARAGUA

Washington, Feb. 25 (A.P.)—A plea from President Diaz of Nicaragua, to the American people for favorable consideration of proposals he has made to the Washington government to establish new treaty relations between the two countries for the purpose of stabilizing economic and political conditions in Nicaragua was made public today by the Nicaraguan legation here.

The communication outlines the treaty proposals, which include guarantee by the United States of the sovereignty and independence of Nicaragua, which would in turn guarantee American rights to the Nicaraguan canal route.

TO FOIL FUTURE COUPS.

"In return for these guarantees, which would sound the death knell of coups d' etat and revolutions in Nicaragua," the Diaz message said, "our government would concede to the United States the right to intervene in Nicaragua whenever it might be necessary in order to make effective the guarantee mentioned above."

An essential part of the program, President Diaz said, would be an American co-operation through a military mission to establish an adequate Nicaraguan constabulary upon which present armies would be disbanded.

The project also contemplates the obtaining by Nicaragua ultimately of loans aggregating $20,000,000 for the purpose of meeting present obligations and to construct a railroad and highways from the Pacific to the Atlantic coasts.

PERMANENT INTERVENTION.

An American financial adviser and receiver general of revenues would be provided for, as well as American technical and engineering assistants in sanitation programs and development of other public works.

The communication said that "as matters now stand" Nicaragua and her Central American neighbors frequently have "the intervention of American armed forces in our territory directed exclusively for the protection of American and foreign lives and property."

Killed in Crash

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 25 (A. P.)—Aaron Gans, an automobile dealer, was killed today when he drove into a truck parked on the turnpike at Milford. Julius Woronick, 16, of Meriden, who had been given a ride, was hurt slightly. Police said James Cavanaugh of Waterbury had parked the truck.

Foley Calls Drugs 'Worst' Curse

Characterizing the "dope" habit as the worst curse of mankind, District Attorney William J. Foley today indorsed Narcotic Education Week, which is being observed this week throughout the country, and urged officials and citizens to co-operate in stamping out the evil.

His statement follows:

"The office of the District Attorney of Suffolk County heartily endorses Narcotic Education Week and its prosecuting officers stand ready at all times to assist in eliminating the drug evil.

"Although it is believed that conditions have generally improved during the past ten years, only vigilance on the part of enforcement officers and the cooperation of citizens will spell the doom of the worst curse of mankind.

"There can be no let-up in the fight against the drug peddler. He represents a serious menace in the community and speedy trial will follow his arrest or indictment in this county."

U. S. AVIATORS CROSS ANDES TO ARGENTINE

Bahia Blanca, Argentina, Feb. 25 (A.P.)—After a notable voyage over the Andes Mountains in four hydro airplanes, the United States army aviators are resting on Argentine soil in their good will flight.

They arrived from Valdivia, Chile, having made the 630-mile trip in six hours fifteen minutes, Commander Herbert A. Dargue, in charge of the flight, declared. The only difficulty met by his plane was when it had to rise 12,000 feet in crossing the mountains. From Bahia Blanca the planes will go to Buenos Aires and thence northward.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Dr. Homer Gage of Worcester and Mrs. Gage Sail for Foreign Strands on Steamship Paris Tomorrow

AFTER HAVING SEEN THEIR ADORED THOROUGH-BRED canines through the trying three days of the Eastern Dog Club's keen competition for doggish honors, Dr. Homer Gage and Mrs. Gage of Worcester, prominent dog fanciers, are way on a journey to the Old World, via the liner Paris which steams out of port tomorrow. The Springtime exodus is on with swing and every outgoing steamship takes important New Englanders across the seas to some favored spot on the other side that modern travel methods make so luxuriously accessible. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland of Beacon street also sail on the Paris, on another of those frequent journeys that keep them on the other side of the world a good half of each year.

ALSO ON THE PARIS BOUND FOR PARIS (and from there to wander about the Continent as fancy dictates) is that very charming young matron, Mrs. Dick Saltonstall, prominent in the Boston younger set. Mrs. Saltonstall's party is a sort of family affair, for her fellow voyagers are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Rogers of Dedham. Mrs. Saltonstall is one of the Smart Set's most accomplished equestriennes, closely allied with the hunting crowd that is just now finding so much sport with famous English and Irish hunts. In fact, Bective House, in Meath, is becoming so favorite a rendezvous with Bostonians that to dash over for a few weeks is quite the thing.

FERRIS GREENSLET OF CHARLES RIVER SQUARE is sailing aboard the Paris. Mr. Greenslet's name is frequently on transatlantic sailing lists, likewise William A. Dupee. Both cross the ocean this time on business bent, rather than for travel for its own sake merely. Mr. Dupee is the father of an attractive debutante of the past Winter, Miss Clara Dupee, of the Vincent Club and the Junior League.

INFORMAL LUNCHEONS, TEAS AND THEATRE PARTIES are keeping that pretty bride of a few months, Mrs. James Crossan Chaplin, 3d, on the go during her very brief stay in town at the Bay State road home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Brown, Jr. Mr. Chaplin came up from Sewickley with his attractive wife, but could stay only over the holiday before returning. Mrs. Chaplin will be in town until some time next week before going back.

TWO OF THE LARGEST DINNERS PRECEDING the Copley Society's Mardi Gras ball next Tuesday at Repertory Hall have as hostesses Mrs. Otis Kimball and Mrs. Louis Vose. The Mardi Gras is to be, comparatively, an "early" party—the receiving line to be on duty between eight-thirty and nine-thirty. Mrs. Harry L. Nason, mother of that very pretty debutante, Miss Vera Stearns, is a recent addition to the receiving line list, which already contains such names as Mrs. Leverett Bradley, Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, Mrs. Cyrus Dallin, Mrs. H. Winthrop Pierce, Mrs. John Chipman Gray, Mrs. Louis Lawrence Green and Mrs. Walter H. Kilham.

THE PIECE DE RESISTANCE OF THE ENTIRE EVENING comes just at midnight when, thanks to the generosity of a Copley Society member who desires anonymity, there will be a professional carnival act staged. The Lerner dancers, with Grace de Carlton at their head, do a twelve-minute vaudeville dancing act, with a dozen people in a three-fold presentation of ballet, character dances and step dances. It will help to wind up the jollification in perfect Copley Society tradition. From all accounts the costumes for the Carnival will be marvels of ingenuity and design, rivalling the rainbow in color, and created with an eye for artistic effect typically Copley-esque.

THE ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT of Miss Margaret Grannis to Robert Phemister, Harvard 1920, was an occasion that brought countless congratulations to this granddaughter of Mrs. Oscar Iasigi, of Boston and Stockbridge, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grannis of Brookline. Miss Grannis came out with the girls of two or three years ago, and has traveled and studied much abroad, many of her foreign journeyings being made in company with her distinguished grandmother.

THAT INVETERATE ANGLER, George A. Dobyne, is one of the amateur fishermen who have organized, under the banners of the Palm Beach Anglers' Club, all those men who find greatest delight when they have a rod and reel in their hands, and finny denizens of the deep are biting good. The Dobynes have to a certain extent deserted their Palm Beach stronghold this Winter, having rented their handsome villa there. Mrs. Dobyne's daughter, Mrs. John Charles Thomas, and her handsome spouse, with the golden voice, are at Palm Beach, popular as ever and much feted by their villa colony friends.

THE LITTLE TWIN SONS RECENTLY BORN to Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Flagg Brigham of Milton have been given the names of Lincoln Forbes Brigham and Robert King Brigham, thus perpetuating family names on both sides. The "Lincoln Forbes Brigham" is for the baby's paternal grandfather who is now dead. Mrs. Brigham was Miss Dorothy King, daughter of the Tarrant P. Kings of Milton, a striking brunette whose brilliant coloring made her a particularly stunning bride. The ceremonial was in September of 1925, and the little newcomers first saw the light of day, February 19.

BLISS REBUKES FULLER UNFAIR, SAYS BLISS

ly [illegible] that a serious breach between Governor and Legislature is threatened.

"[illegible] attack is unpardonable, unbecoming," was the assertion of one member of the Legislature, referring to the Governor's accusation against Senator Bliss, who represents the Governor's home city, Malden.

BLISS DEFENDS HIMSELF.

[illegible] in a statement to the Boston Evening American, flatly denied being influenced in his legislative work by any corporate interest, and he challenged the Governor's right to criticise the vote of an individual in the Legislature.

"[illegible] a free man," he declared in answer to Governor Fuller's charge.

Although professing an unwillingness to enter into a controversy with [illegible], he admitted being deeply offended at the Governor's letter, in which the Governor wrote:

"[illegible] the protection of the unwary, [illegible] Bliss should be obliged to go about the State House with an electric sign on his hat reading: 'Gen[illegible].'"

The Senate chaplain, Rev. Edward A. [illegible], made a veiled defense of all the senators in his prayer opening today's session. Senator Bliss arrived a few minutes after he finished and was received affably by his confreres.

Selectmen of the town of Plymouth are also aroused over the situation.

It was disclosed by them today for the first time that they had requested an audience with the Governor for the purpose of urging him to sign the bill in dispute which would have permitted call members of the local fire department to become regulars without civil service examination.

GOVERNOR VETOES BILL.

An hour before this audience was to have taken place, Governor Fuller vetoed the bill, it is claimed. The Senate's vote to override his veto is what caused his attack on Senator Bliss, who, as acting presiding officer, voted to override.

"Just because Governor Fuller was angry at the overriding of his veto on the rather unimportant Plymouth fire department bill, he should not have allowed himself to go beyond the bounds of constitutionality to criticise a Senator's vote," declared Senator Bliss.

"What is more, as acting presiding officer of the Senate, I went to the Governor's secretary to talk about the matter, after the veto was overridden. I explained, incidentally, that I had taken no part either for or against the measure but had personally voted to override the veto because I was swayed by the argument of Senator Bilodeau.

"In spite of this explanation, offered in a spirit of friendliness, the Governor immediately sat down and issued his personal affront against me. It sounded to me like something he has long wanted to get off his chest.

"I have stood by him time after time. I stand squarely with him on the electric question and I believe, like him, that if the companies are making excessive profits they should be curtailed.

"The Tenney Service, the interests with which the Governor said I am linked as a paid lobbyist, have never tried to influence my vote or any of my work on Beacon Hill, and I have been there, representing the people, for 17 years.

"It is an old thorn of suspicion in the Governor's side. He opposed me for the Senate years ago on the electric question, while I have always shown a disposition to be his friend, personally and politically.

"The people of my district know I work for them alone. The people of the State ought to know, by my long record, that I serve their interests first and last. I am a free man.

"And Governor Fuller should realize that he has no constitutional right to criticise, as he has done, the vote of a Senator on any matter. That is beyond the province and the prerogatives of his position. If I see fit, after due consideration, I shall make a reply to him directly in the near future.

"For the time being I have decided to say nothing to the Governor. I may let my constituents decide. I was planning to retire this year, but I may now reconsider in view of the situation that has arisen."

The Governor charged bluntly that he believes the electric interests are "out to punish me for showing them up as profiteers."

The veto was overridden by a vote of 23 to 11. Senator Bliss was presiding over the Senate at the time.

Governor Fuller's attack upon Senator Bliss, probably the most savage ever directed by a Governor of Massachusetts at a member of the Legislature, was made in a letter to the eleven Senators who voted to sustain his veto. He wrote:

"I am gratified that you stood with me and against the Tenney Electric Light interests' hired man, Senator Bliss, who led the opposition. The Tenney interests are out to punish me from showing them up as profiteers."

Light Magntaes at Hearing Unable to Dispel Darkness

Gas and electric light magnates from all parts of Massachusetts gathered at the State House today for a hearing before the Public Utilities Commission on the Shattuck order for new methods of raising capital by gas and electric light companies.

The murk and gloom outside penetrated the hearing chamber and made it impossible to read even the large headlines of a newspaper.

"Let us have light," ordered the chairman.

A dozen buttons were pushed but the gloom was thick as ever. More switches were pulled and pushed without avail. Finally it dawned on the magnates that the light system was not working.

The hearing was conducted with attorneys and others walking to the windows for light enough to read their briefs.

'TELEPHONE FRIGHT' MARS CHATS ACROSS OCEAN

London, Feb. 25 (A.P.)—"Telephone fright" is preventing some persons from hearing well and speaking clearly when using the new wireless telephone service across the Atlantic. It is akin to stage fright, the thought of speaking three thousand miles over the ocean being just as befuddling to these persons as appearance before a large audience.

When telephones first came into use in England it took a long time for some customers to get over "phone fright." Telephone officials jestingly charge that Rudyard Kipling and old-fashioned folks who refuse to have telephones are still suffering from the ailment.

FARM BILL IS VETOED BY COOLIDGE

nets, chiefly sectional," he said, "and proposes to raise the price of those regardless of the fact that thousands of other farmers would be directly penalized."

Chairman McNary of the Senate agriculture committee said he would make no effort to override President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill.

"The chief objection to the bill is that it would not benefit the farmer," President Coolidge continued. "Whatever may be the influence of arbitrary interference, no one can deny that in the long run prices will be governed by the law of supply and demand.

"To expect to increase prices and then to maintain them on a higher level by means of a plan which must of necessity increase production while decreasing consumption, is to fly in the face of an economic law as well established as any law of nature. Experience shows that high prices in any given year mean greater acreage the next year."

Mr. Coolidge declared the bill clearly involved governmental fixing of prices. "It gives the proposed Federal board almost unlimited authority to fix prices on the designated commodities," he said. "Nothing is more certain than that such price fixing would upset the normal exchange relationship existing in the open market and that it would finally have to be extended to cover a multitude of other goods and services. Government price fixing once started has alike no justice and no end.

"It is an economic folly from which this country has every right to be spared."

The message furthermore objected to "the remarkable delegation of the taxing power" of Congress to the Federal Farm Bureau, "nominated by farmers," which would be established under the bill.

"This so-called equalization fee is not a tax for purposes of revenue in the accepted sense," said the President. "It is a tax for the special benefit of particular groups. As a direct tax on certain of the vital necessities of life it represents the most vicious form of taxation.

"It's real effect is an employment of the coercive powers of government to the end that certain special groups of farmers may profit temporarily at the expene of other farmers and of the community at large."

HITS BUREAU POWER.

The message declared the bill economically unsound since it would be unlikely that surpluses could always be exported.

"Increased production on the one hand, coupled with decreased domestic consumption on the other, would mean an increased exportable surplus to be dumped on the world market," said the President. "This in turn would mean a constantly decreasing world price until the point was reached where the world price was sufficiently low so that, even though increased by our tariff duties, commodities would flow into this country in large quantities."

Furthermore, the President objected to the power given to the Federal Farm Bureau under the measure.

"The law fixes no standards, imposes no restrictions and requires no regulation of any kind," said he.

He declared also that members of the board "would be under constant pressure from their constituents to push prices as high as possible."

INCREASES LIVING COSTS.

"To expect moderation under these circumstances is to disregard experience," he said, "and credit human nature with qualities it does not possess."

Pointing out that the Department of Justice had been employed in breaking up combinations aimed at raising the cost of living, the message continued:

"This bill, if it accomplishes its purpose, will raise the price of the specified agricultural commodities to the highest possible point, and in doing so the board will operate without any restraint imposed by the anti-trust laws. The granting of any such power to a government board is to run counter to our traditions, the philosophy of our government, the spirit of our institutions and all principles of equity.

"The administrative difficulties involved are sufficient to wreck the plan."

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.)—Word that President Coolidge had vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill caused a sharp rally in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat gained around 1½ cents and corn more than a cent.

Coolidge Axe Hacks Bill to Bits With Caustic Blows

Washington, Feb. 25 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge, in vetoing the McNary-Haugen Farm Relief Bill today, declared it was unconstitutional, would not benefit the farmer, would increase the cost of living and was unworkable.

The President's veto throws down the gauntlet to his Middle-Western political opponents, who wrote and campaigned ceaselessly for the measure. It kills any chance for farm relief legislation until next December.

While the principal ground for the veto was its unconstitutionality, Mr. Coolidge literally hacked the bill to pieces with criticisms.

The half-a-day man

FOR months he had hated to face what he knew, in his heart, was true. . . . He was slipping. Losing out. He who once had shown such shining promise! His old-time vigor had gone. Ambition, itself, had dwindled to futile floundering. What had happened? He seemed to grow weary before the day was half-way through! What scourge had sapped his energy? What curse was beggaring his life?

Constipation blights many a bright career. It destroys initiative. It weakens the body and paves the way to disease after disease. Yet, for all its insidious destructiveness, constipation can be relieved—safely, pleasantly, permanently. It can be prevented! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to give relief—to bring safe prevention!

Why part-bran products are ineffective

What a boon that a delicious cereal like ALL-BRAN can do such a wonderful work! Doctors recommend it because it is 100% bran. They know that 100% bran means 100% results! Here is why:

As ALL-BRAN journeys through the system it releases moisture which its "bulk" absorbs in generous quantity. And it gently distends the intestines—purifying, cleansing, removing wastes and poisons. ALL-BRAN contains sufficient "bulk" to perform this work—because it is 100% bran. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is so small that there is only a puny amount to do a herculean task.

Don't risk dangerous drugs

ALL-BRAN works as nature does. How different from pills and drugs whose dose must be constantly increased and which often cause injury!

Get a package of ALL-BRAN from your grocer. Serve it with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey, if you prefer. Let it soak a few moments in the milk to bring out its full nut-like flavor. Mix it with other cereals. Use it in soups. Try the recipes on every package. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original 100% bran. Refuse part-bran substitutes. At best, they are but partially effective. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Comes ready to eat. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants and cafeterias—on dining-cars.

What could be fairer?

Eat ALL-BRAN regularly—according to directions on the package. If it does not relieve any case of constipation safely and permanently, we will gladly refund your money. This is the strongest guarantee the Kellogg Company knows how to make! They could never afford to make it if ALL-BRAN did not produce 100% results!

Ten Thousand in Mad Scramble for New Diamond Field

Johannesburg, Feb. 23 (I. N. S.)—Ten thousand fortune hunters entered in a mad race today when diamond claims upon a farm at Grasfontein were thrown open.

Professional men, clerks, tradesmen and women joined in the race to peg out claims.

A group of professional runners were brought here from Australia to race to the newly opened field and stake a claim for a syndicate. Those travelling on foot were given a 30-minute start over those who chose to motor to the new fields. Crowds estimated at 30,000 witnessed the exciting spectacle.

A new way to cook beef-loaf spicy! different!

MAKE a beef mixture with a pound of hamburg, one cup of bread crumbs, an egg and 2 tablespoons of butter. Season with salt and pepper, mold into a loaf. Place in baking pan and spread thickly with a paste made of three tablespoons of Gulden's Mustard, one tablespoon of lemon juice and a quarter tablespoon of salt. Add a little water to the bottom of the pan, and baste frequently. Cook in a moderate oven.

In Gulden's the mustard is blended with a delicate flavoring of spices. Thus Gulden's Mustard is a complete seasoner for cooking, giving a distinctive, tasty flavor.

'MIDNIGHT MESSAGE'

The Thrill of Love and Millions Abounds in Every Chapter

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Luke Jefferies, walking along a London street, is asked by Mary Vickers to come into her father's house. The father is dying and seeks someone to whom he can entrust a mission. He explains that Abraham Steel, an old friend, has discovered a substitute for petrol. Agents of a powerful oil syndicate are seeking the formula. Vickers is trying to protect Steel. He offers Jefferies a big reward if he will take his place. As he dies he warns him against Monsieur Carnifex, whom he brands as a traitor. Mary goes to live with Madge Aldhouse and Jefferies meets her and her brother, Jack Enderby. They make a midnight dash to Steel's house in the country. He is in fear of his life. Late in the evening Steel is murdered, but he tells Jefferies where his papers are.

The man who killed Steel reports to Carnifex that the dying inventor imparted his secret to Jefferies.

Jefferies calls on Curwen Brown of the Foreign Office, who promises his assistance in trailing down the conspirators.

THE SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

MY Daughter, ask me why dogs bay at the moon, why women wear furs in summer, and why gentlemen prefer blondes. But do NOT ask me, I pray thee, to explain the way of a Man and a Maid, in this day of de-natured lovers!

Harken, then, unto the Fable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins.

For, behold, there dwelt in Babylon two damsels of great beauty and exceeding high-powered pep. And one was wise and the other was foolish.

Now, the Foolish Virgin said: "Verily, verily, Youth is short and men are fleeting. And whilst I am young, I shall live my own life! Yea, I shall dance, pet and be merry!

"For, lo, I was made to be LOVED! And I shall not MISS anything!"

And, behold, she reddened her lips and rouged her knees and darkened her eyelashes and borrowed her brother's pocket-flask.

And the men of the City flocked about her and acclaimed her "Good Sport." Yea, one by one, they fell for her! For she froze them not, and her petting was full of technique!

But when a man had spent ONE evening in her company, and kissed her to his content, lo he departed and she SAW HIM NO MORE!

For what man desireth "more" of that whereof he hath had enough?

But the Wise Virgin said:
"Behold, I shall be 'different'! Yea, I shall give men a new thrill! For, whatsoever other damsels may say, I shall not be cheapen myself, but shall be that which all men SAY they admire. Even a 'sweet, old-fashioned woman!'

"Verily, NO man shall make of me an afternoon's amusement or an evening's pastime. For cheap petting is abhorrent, and 'necking' is nauseous!"

And lo, she was more coy than a violet, and more distant than the last row in the orchestra.

And the men of the City were "intrigued" and flocked about her saying, "Behold, she hath a New Game, dear, sed Ma, that you will not die for years & years to cum.

Life is very unfair, sed Pa. A gent never knows at the beginning of a New Year, sed Pa, how long it will be before they are saying that his wife makes a charming widdow, sed Pa.

Wimmen offen hav to go beefore there business, too, sed Ma, & it seams to me I can recall quite a few of yure own friendz, sed Ma, that lost there wifes & married agorn, sed Ma.

Pa won't never marry agorn if you shud hav to die, Ma, I sed. I herd him say so.

Did you, Bobbie? sed Ma, she looked kind of worried.

Yes, I sed. I herd Pa say so last week wen Mister Ellwood got married agorn. Pa sed Well, if I hav ever singed you but I will stay singed, that is what Pa sed.

Oh, sed Ma, so that was the way he put it, was it? sed Ma, & she didnt look so pleased.

Bobbie has that all twisted, sed Pa. I sed if I shud ever lose you my heart would be berried with you & I wud never want a other mate, sed Pa. I say like a man in that respeck, sed Pa. Wot a man loses his mate he is tired, sed Pa. He never talks a widder mate, sed Pa.

Lets talk abou sumthing besides dying & getting new mates, I sed. That aint very cheerful talk to be speeding in front of a little boy that loves his father & mother, I sed.

Bobbie is rite, wife, sed Pa. The littel man is so fond of us both speshully me, sed Pa, that he cant bare to think of our dying.

I dount see why peeopl hav to be talking about dying while they are feeling fine. Dying aint no joak no way you cum it. If there aint no hereafter you are thru with all youre fun, & if there is a hereafter you dount know what they are going to hand you. I guess I will cut this out. It makes me blew to rite about such things like doth ete.

"Oh, just the same," was the reply, "but all the other elephants are coughing now."

AFTER PERIOD OF TORTURE, MAN FINDS RELIEF FROM ITCHING

Skin now entirely healed

Charlestown (Boston), Mass., Dec. 18.—"Last June I had an itching irritation on my back, principally between the shoulders, and also on the back of my hands, extending to the fingers. The skin was apparently clear of any disorder, but the itching was intense. After a vigorous rubbing with a Turkish towel there would appear two spots about an inch apart, which bled from the effects of the rubbing. I used Bay Rum and other lotions before I tried your Resinol Ointment. At bedtime my back received a thorough washing with Resinol Soap and a very generous application of Ointment, after which I would rest quite comfortably until about two or three in the morning, when I received another application. A third upon arising would be enough to make me feel at ease during the day. Thanks to the above treatment, the trouble is now entirely healed." (Signed) John W. Matthews, 1 Crystal Place

MEDBURY SAYS—

By JOHN P. MEDBURY.

A WHITE leghorn chicken has just finished laying 251 eggs in 365 days, and scientists think this is wonderful for a hen. It would be wonderful for anybody.

AT eighty cents a dozen, she earned almost $21.00 for her owner. This is a lot of money to make just sitting down.

OF course she didn't work continuously. Sometimes she'd lay three eggs on Friday afternoon so that she could have the week-end to herself.

ONE farmer used to encourage his hens to work faster by putting lightning bugs in their corn.

HE gave them so much ice water to drink that a lot of them began laying cold storage eggs.

HE ought to be tickled to death that they didn't take up the Charleston and present him with omelets.

ONE hen used to lay eggs so often that the rooster got laryngitis from crowing about it.

BUT a hatchet soon cured his throat troubles.

THAT'S the unfair part of the sex industry. The hen does all the work and the rooster gets up and brags about it.

HE'S like the big-hearted guy who holds the cellar door open while his wife carries the trunks down in to the basement.

THE society for the prevention of cruelty to animals had to get after a Kansas farmer. He used to put setting eggs in the nests to make the hens work harder.

ONE chicken tried for a month to duplicate it and finally died of a broken heart.

IF the farmer's plan had worked, he probably would have started using watermelons.

A CALIFORNIA woman had a hen that laid four eggs in one afternoon. She was so surprised that she almost died of shell shock.

THE chicken toiled so hard the rooster had a nervous breakdown.

BUT the hen was going away for the Summer and wanted to get ahead in her work.

THE farmers are already beginning to put different colored paints in the chicken's drinking water. It's almost time for them to start laying their Easter eggs.

THE hens will labor hard for the next couple of months and then on April 17th, the bunnies will get all the credit.

Life Budgets Needed More Than Business Budgets

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—Most of us who are still wrestling with the earning of a living look forward longingly to the coming of a day when we may be able to stop work and revel in leisure.

I've been spending some days in a southern pleasure resort, and what I have seen has cooled any ardor I may have had for retiring.

The male patrons consist mainly of two classes: Active, aggressive, hustling business men who have made headway in the world, and retired men.

B. C. Forbes

What a contrast of their enjoyment of life! What a contrast in their zest!

THE RETIRED ones, as a rule, go around bored, disinterested. Their countenances read: "What's the use of anything, what's the use of living?" They act as if they had been caught in a slow-going treadmill and are now doomed to go on aimlessly, uselessly to their approaching end.

WHAT A JOY to see the forceful business man, still in the heat of the fray, dart into the hotel, register, rush to his room, reappear in a jiffy dressed for golf, and start for the links, his eyes glinting with the pleasure of anticipation!

He finds the day—each day—too short. He wants to play golf every day; he wants to ride; he wants to read; his womenfolk want him to go sightseeing, dancing, card-playing, to the theatre or the movies.

His brief stay is crowded with activity, action, recreation, pleasure.

And he leaves full of renewed vigor and vitality and enthusiasm to take up afresh the tussle of business.

WHAT is the wisest plan of life for a man of affairs who has already made enough money to provide reasonably for his family?

Should he continue at full speed wholly engrossed in money-making, or as is more often the case, in gratifying some achievements—ambition?

Or, should he begin to take things easier?

Or, should he, at a relatively early age, retire with the object of enjoying leisure?

SURELY THIS is a question of importance. What question could be more important to those so circumstanced? We Americans devote intense thought to planning the future of our business. But how much thought do we devote to planning our own future, the future of our life?

Why take such pains to prepare a business budget and give no thought to preparing a life budget.

* * *

AFTER SEEING much of the lives of so-called successful business men, I have formed certain rather definite conclusions as to the most sensible course for normally-constituted men to follow—an Edison is an exception.

My advice is:

Follow a middle course.

THE FIRST HALF of one's life may be applied diligently, concentratedly, primarily, to earning a living, to making progress, and, as far as possible, to accumulating something approaching a competency.

In middle-age, instead of becoming more and more a slave to work and more and more a stranger to wife and family, as so many men do with tragic consequences, why not begin to organize things so that somewhat more time may be available for the enjoyment of domestic association, for travel, for reading, for recreation?

Before old age arrives, deputize responsibilities to others you have trained to shoulder and discharge them.

But do not step down and wholly out. Do not become a hundred per cent. loafer. That in most instances is fatal.

NEW HOURS IN A. & P. STORES

New business hours for Atlantic & Pacific metropolitan stores were announced by President W. J. Davidson at a meeting of 600 store managers in Lorimer Hall, held to mark the completion of 28 years of his service with the organization.

Beginning next Monday, the metropolitan A. & P. stores will open at 7:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m., with the exception of Saturdays when they will close at 9 p. m.

Introduced to the cheering managers as "The Manager's Man," President Davidson sketched the growth of the huge organization in the more than a quarter century he has been identified with it, and he contrasted present working conditions and salaries of the managers with those of a decade and more ago.

"The A. & P. leads all New England grocery chains in improving the working conditions of its employes," he said.

"Eleven years ago it organized the Managers' Benefit Association providing for store managers in case of sickness and giving managers an opportunity to invest wisely.

"Two years ago the A. & P. announced a stock ownership plan under which the majority of A. & P. employes have become participants in the profits of the company. Last year the A. & P. took out one of the largest group insurance policies in the country."

Others who spoke were L. W. Thompson, vice-president, and L. W. Beebe, assistant general superintendent, and among officers present were P. A. Doucher, treasurer; C. A. Armitage, secretary; R. L. Harry, director of sales; J. D. Hodges, director of purchases; H. L. Tresman, director of operations; E. U. Whiting, Jr., Boston sales manager, and F. W. Buxton, New England advertising manager.

BOSTON TRADE ACTIVE

R. G. Dun & Co. Weekly Trade Review in this week's issue will say regarding trade conditions in Boston—Business continues to be moderately active, without much change during the week, except that forward ordering of Spring merchandise was retarded by the recent storm.

Automobile tires and supplies which were becoming more active have slowed up, and automobile dealers have been moving but few cars.

The shoe trade among the jobbers is quiet, but manufacturers working on novelties for women are fairly busy, and the men's lines have improved slightly. Retailers are doing moderately well for this time of year.

Leather is moving mostly in small lots, and no material price changes are reported. The hide and skin market is weak, with few offerings.

Chemicals continue to move in satisfactory volume, a few prices have been increased. Dyestuffs are moving on contract in good volume; new orders are light. Tanning materials are irregular.

The weather has not favored activity in building materials, and all kinds of lumber are rather slow. Building contracts awarded in New England during January amounted to $17,182,000, which was a decrease of 35 per cent. from the figures of January, 1926. Sales of pulpwood are well maintained, and the paper trade continues active.

New England carloadings through December and January have, with the exception of the week ending January 8, been below those of the corresponding weeks of the previous year. There is a slight surplus of labor in almost all lines, except rubber shoes, and the completion of several large construction jobs is releasing additional labor in the building trades. The shipyards are also finishing their contracts.

The current demand for cotton goods is increasing, and orders for Spring delivery are being received in larger volume. The fine goods have the best call. Prices are firm. The towel business is active, and there is a scarcity of the Turkish lines.

The sale of cotton yarns is moderate, and prices are firm. Carpet yarns are fairly active, but the sales of floor coverings have been light. Fairly large amounts of wool have been contracted for in the West. Locally, business is more active and prices at home and abroad are firmer.

Receipts of wool are moderate, and are still below last year's figures. The goods market is moderately active, and prices on some lines have been advanced. Yarn sales are not large, but are apparently increasing. Quotations do not show much change.

The Statler Building

The wise economy of its office units—17 x 23 ft., with no waste space—is quickly recognized by anyone who ever laid out working quarters—or who ever paid for space on a square-foot basis.

INVENTIONS IN DEMAND IN MARKET

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

New inventions are in demand in Wall Street. This does not mean that an inventor is likely to have much success in finding a primary market in the "Street." He must first interest capital that will have his invention placed before the investing and speculating public. Once it has passed the more or less acid test of financing judgment, the invention begins to bring in golden returns, in which the inventor sometimes shares.

The telephone and telegraph are early examples. The radio is a more recent one. Refrigerating issues are of more recent. The talking machine should not be forgotten. Appearance of the new invention designed to displace orchestras in moving picture houses, etc., was one of the later sensations, and the speculative rise in market valuation of the stock that controlled it will not soon be forgotten by observers.

Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Co., which owns WEAF in New York and operates WJZ, speaks March 3 before members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. President Aylesworth is a gift of the West to the East. He was called here in 1919 to become managing director of the National Electric Association. Previously he had functioned as chairman of the Colorado Public Utility Commission.

C. K. Woodbridge, new executive vice-president of the Electric Refrigeration Corp., resigns the presidency of Dictaphone Corp. As president of the International Advertising Association, an association of prominent users of advertising, Mr. Woodbridge has won national and international reputation. During the past year he traveled over 30,000 miles through the United States, England, France, Germany, Belgium and other countries in the cause of advertising. He was formerly Boston salesmanager of Loose-Wiles Biscuit.

He left this position when he was commissioned a captain in the U. S. Army. After the armistice he joined the Dictaphone Corporation.

Edwin A. Potter, Jr., vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, has been elected a director of the Sullivan Machinery Co., succeeding Darrell S. Boyd of Chicago, resigned. Sullivan Machinery has offices in Boston and plants at Claremont, N. H., and Chicago.

Gold Button Club—Legion of Honor, with nearly 300 members composed of Boston Edison Co. employes who have been with the company twenty years or over, attended its sixth annual meeting. This banquet is tendered anually by the company and is held as nearly as possible to the anniversary of the starting of the company's first station which was Feb. 20, 1886.

Charles L. Edgar, president of the Boston Edison Co., an "old timer" himself who will receive his 40-year service button next September, called the gathering to order as honorary president. After brief remarks upon the importance of the occasion, as well as the strong sentiment of friendship and comradery which increase with the passing years, Mr. Edgar turned the meeting over to A. L. Knox, Superintendent of Service Buildings, as toast master of the evening. The address of the evening was given by Samuel T. MacQuarrie, director of the New England Bureau of Public Utility Information.

CHEERFUL VIEW IS MOODY'S

Moody's Weekly Review sounds a note of cheer. It says:

"There seems to be little reason to look for other than a continuance of the easy money conditions. February end of the month requirements are being taken care of without disturbing the market, and for the week ended February 19, the average of all money rates, including call and time money, commercial paper and acceptances, stood at less than 4.25% as compared with 4.60% for the week ended January 1 last.

"The heavy offerings of new securities since the first of the year have undoubtedly absorbed a considerable amount of investment funds which would ordinarily have come into the market. Trade demands upon capital to take care of the Spring expansion in business may for a time divert funds from the bond market, but we remain optimistic in our long range view.

"Perhaps the most important happening during the past week, as related to the stock market, was the announcement of the decision of the Supreme Court upholding the railroad valuations of the Interstate Commerce Commission. However, its importance was unduly magnified and need not be given great consideration by those financially interested in railroad securities or contemplating their purchase."

GENERAL Motors earned $21.80 a share in 1926. Net of $186,231,182 was a gain of more than $70,000,000 over 1925.

ANTI-DEATH BILL INSPIRED BY HEARST

long, in fact, as there has been law, but all to no effect.

"'Does it ever occur to Christians that perhaps Christ was right?

"'Does it ever occur to those who believe in Christ's inspiration, in His divinity, or merely in His wisdom, that He knew what He was talking about and that His theories were practical and could actually be put into operation for the benefit of humanity in this world as well as in the next?

"'The other day Gerald Chapman was hanged by the neck until he was dead and that meant that he had writhed for some nine or ten minutes in horrible agony and frightful convulsions, in order to prove that the taking of life is wrong.

"'Gerald Chapman had taken human life and the State took Gerald Chapman's life, cruelly, cold-bloodedly, calculatingly, in order to prove that the taking of human life is wrong.

"'But first, Gerald Chapman was educated and graduated by the State as a criminal. . . How much of the fault of this human failure is Chapman's? How much of the fault is the State's?

"'How much of the fault is the lack of the practice of practical Christianity in the life and the law of this Christian country?

"'An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth' has failed—Has always failed. It fails every day.

NO DETERRENT.

"'In fact, on the very day on which Chapman was to be hanged for killing an officer of the law, another officer of the law was killed by another criminal.

"'There is no deterrent in the menace of the gallows.

"'Cruelty and viciousness are not abolished by cruelty and viciousness—not even by legalized cruelty and viciousness.

"'The time for the State to protect itself against the criminal is before the criminal is made.

"'Most criminals are not born; they are made. Crime is mainly a matter of education—of education in crime—of lack of education in decent directions.

"'It is the duty of the State to bend the twig in the right direction.

"'Criminals are indications of the failure of our educational system, not merely the failure of the legal system. And the number of criminals indicate the extent of the failure.

EDUCATION IS CURE.

"'We cannot cure criminality by punishment, but only by education and by a practical application of the principles of Christianity.

"'Our whole penal system has broken down because it is built upon the sand—founded on the basis of force and violence, instead of on the basis of Christian care of our fellow men, of moral and mental human development, of the conscientious performance by the State of its duty to the citizen.

"'We cannot cure murder by murder.

"'We must adopt another and better system.

"'We must try not merely to punish crime but to prevent crime, to cultivate good citizenship, to create good citizens through the right kind of circumstances, the right kind of surroundings, the right kind of education.

"'That is not only the duty of the State, it is the safety of the State. In fact, it is the salvation of the State and of society.'"

3. A separate Department of the Army, of the [illegible] and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.

Needs Incessant Attack

The Narcotic Peril Is Both Large and Growing; It Speeds Human Degradation

Everybody in touch with life knows something of the perils in narcotic addiction. Nobody knows their extent in this country.

The number of habitual users of habit-forming drugs is variously estimated at from 1,000,000 or fewer to 4,000,000.

There is no way to count them. The habit is too insidious. Victims of it, until they reach the last desperate stages, cunningly conceal the truth.

We know rather definitely, however, certain facts which indicate that this menace is both large and growing.

Of the world's output of opium and opium derivatives, only a twentieth is needed for purposes of science. The remainder all goes to start and speed human degradation.

Our per capita use of narcotics is far and away the largest among white peoples. Apologists for the opium traffic say it does not do much harm to yellow and brown peoples. Good authority denies this, but there is no question as to the habit's effect among whites. It brings horrible suffering and swift ruin.

Police, prison and hospital testimony the country over is strikingly uniform in reporting that nearly a fifth of all criminals are drug addicts; that the bulk of gun-using banditry is the work of heroin-crazed youth seeking the price of more "dope," and that the spread of drug addiction, especially among the young, is increasing ominously.

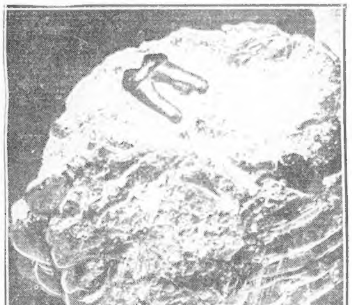

It was the old way to let youth stumble into many of life's pitfalls ignorantly.

The new way is to educate.

That justifies this Narcotic Education Week, but suggests that the processes of educating and safeguarding should never pause.

How Old Is Our Race?

30,000,000 Years! Hard to Believe

BEHOLD A HUMAN TOOTH 30,000,000 YEARS OLD.

With this tooth, found by Dr. Siegfriedt in a Montana coal mine, some one of our very ancient ancestors chewed his raw meat in the Eocene period.

That period dates back not less than 30,000,000 years. Science is puzzled by the suggestion that what we call "human life" could be so old, and says that no HUMAN teeth could have existed so long ago.

Man was on the earth 500,000 years ago, undoubtedly, and it is PROBABLE that animals much like the men of today were on earth a million years ago. But that men should have begun their earth evolution 30,000,000 years back seems incredible. Yet in that Eocene formation science identifies a tooth that seems human.

Money in Jail

Use, Not Ownership, Is What Counts

Alphonse J. Stephani killed a lawyer a great many years ago and is in prison for life. His mother, dying in 1902, left him $22,000. That has grown to $178,618. Each year the lawyers let Stephani know how much richer he is, and that is all the good it does HIM. The State of New York feeds him, supplies him with a cell, clothes him and makes him work for nothing.

Stephani knows what many rich men don't know, that the real value of money depends on the use of it.

If you lived on a desert island, made of solid pure gold, you would have to catch crabs for a living and look at the stars for entertainment.

Room for 21,000,000

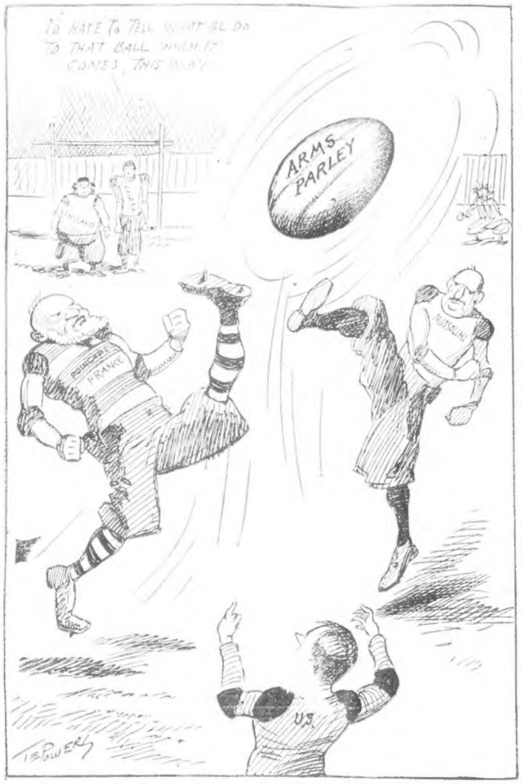

Great Is Radio

With 6,000,000 radio sets in the United States, there is room for 21,000,000 more in this country's 27,000,000 homes.

Thirty million Americans can hear the same radio voice at the same time. Some day a man leaving home will carry a radio instrument that will call up the house wherever he is, and let his wife call him, and tell what she wants brought home.

HIT IT HARD!

SCIENCE BIG HELP TO THE FARMER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE smudge pot is the triumph of the scientific farmer. Occasionally there is a cold snap in Florida or California. This menaces the entire citrus industry.

Warnings issued by the Weather Bureau advised farmers of the approach of a cold snap. Time was when they used to fill their smudge pots with heavy oil and create a dense pall of smoke over the orchards to exclude cold. Sometimes that worked. Sometimes it didn't.

Then along came the scientific farmer burning lighter oil with less smoke and he actually raised the temperature around the orange trees. That works always.

It is possible to raise the temperature of an orchard at least 9 degrees, which is sufficient for the most severe cold snaps in California.

You wouldn't think that people would be able to warm up the atmosphere with outdoor stoves, but that is what is actually being done, and the saving of the citrus is considerable.

Altogether the smudge pot is a triumph for the application of science to the business of farming.

Too often the matter of farming has been by rule of thumb, and the introduction of scientific methods can only increase the products of the soil.

What Do You Know?

Watch your mental growth as carefully as you watch the number of pounds you gain in weight. Use these tests as scales to measure your general information.

Complete each of these statements with the correct word: 1. [illegible] is a musical instrument—religion—plant, animal. 2. [illegible] is a [illegible]—easy task—bird. 3. Thousand Islands are in the St. Lawrence River—Hudson River—Boston Harbor—Long Island Sound. 4. Uranus is a star—planet—constellation—meteor.

Rearrange, so that words meaning nearly the same are paired:

5. Feud	Smallest
6. Group	Prophetic
7. Least	Mournful
8. Oracular	Contention
9. Sad	Total
10. Whole	Collection

Who is the author of each of these: 11. "A Window in Thrums." 12. "The Blithedale Romance." 13. "Ninety Years at Hull House." 14. "Aurora Leigh." 15. "The Sugar Plum Tree." 16. "The Barefoot Boy."

See tomorrow's paper to verify your results. Answers to yesterday's test: 1, true; 2, false; 3, true; 4, false; 5, Hermes; 6, Comus; 7, [illegible]; 8, Boreas; 9, Daedalus; 10, France; 11, plant; 12, Stephen Collins Foster; 13, Russia; 14, wood nymphs; 15, sculptor.

VIRTUOSO.

IT isn't generally known about CITY HALL, but CITY STATISTICIAN JAMES P. BAKER is an accomplished violinist and keeps in practice all the time. He puts in his hour a day on the fiddle quite as regularly as he spends his time playing with the figures that relate to the CITY'S activities.

TROPHIES.

FRANK M. ARCHER, JR., is fast becoming known as one of the city's most ardent sportsmen. The prize of his hunting trip last Fall down through NEW BRUNSWICK, the head of a huge moose, has just been mounted on the wall of his office in the plant in Heath street, ROXBURY, along with the mounted heads and hoofs of a [illegible] and a [illegible] shot by him on former trips.

MENACE.

"I think if the average [illegible] knew more about the "dope" evil they would give it the prominence it requires," said SERGEANT [illegible] ERT CAVERLY, in charge of the narcotic division of the BOSTON police department. Working with only four assistants he has made BOSTON an uncomfortable place for the drug pedlar to ply his nefarious business, with the result that "meets" are now being held by addicts in suburban cities and towns where the chance of arrest is thought to be less.

"FORWARD!"

Although many people meet REPRESENTATIVE ARTHUR A. HANSEN of WALTHAM during the course of a day at the STATE HOUSE, few realize that he is the hero of one of the most dramatic incidents of the World War, an incident that has given educators, statesmen and patriotic speakers inspiration for their themes. During a fierce charge on a German position REPRESENTATIVE HANSEN, then a lieutenant of infantry, saw his captain drop, mortally wounded. As the leader fell he turned and, with his last breath, gasped out: "Lieutenant, the command is forward. See the boys through." And the big blond lieutenant did. He won the D. S. C.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE desperadoes who steal the automobiles and pull off the holdups, beating, maiming and killing as they go, like so many bloodthirsty wolves—did you ever see them rounded up in jail?

No? Then you're in for a surprise.

Here they come—stumbling out of the police wagon, shuffling down the scabby corridor of the jail, slinking into the cells they know so well.

But these puny weaklings, or stupid clumsy school children can't be the human hyenas whose very name strikes terror to the public heart! That weak-chinned, watery-eyed boy of nineteen can't be the fiend who held up four oil stations in one night and left three dying men in his trail? Why, that worm wouldn't have the courage to kill a rat, much less a man!

That blubbering youngster, who isn't a day over fifteen—it's a farce to say that he helped hold up a bank! And there's the girl whom they claim engineered the job. That dish-faced, anemic brat engineer a holdup! Stop your fooling! Let's see the real criminals!

There is no fooling. These are the real criminals.

These stupid, cowardly weaklings are the bandits and killers who make night dreadful for you and for me.

But it takes courage and strength to steal or kill?

Yes, and it's obvious that these cringing creatures have neither.

But they can get courage and strength. In the twinkling of a second these impotent specimens of human rubbish can be transformed into reckless fiends, strong, arrogant, shrewd, insanely cruel.

How?

HEROIN!

HEROIN—there's the deadliest menace in America today. It's use exceeds all other forms of drug addiction. Yet most of us are ignorant of its existence. Dope—You're used to that name. Opium dens and underworld haunt—pipe and pill and hypo—they all belong to a sad, sad world in which you have no part. No need for you or yours to fear the poppy's deadly heart—so you think—

But HEROIN.

There's something new. Something that won't stay put in the opium dens. Something that is creeping like a vile, white snake out of the underworld, across the highway, into the sunny gardens where our children play, into the school, into the homes—creeping, creeping, into your life and mine, and killing it as it comes.

Heroin—the stuff that peps 'em up.

Heroin—the stuff that turns a coward into a reckless brute or a weary, listless girl into a brilliant belle.

Heroin—the stuff that puts shrewdness and spunk into a timid, tired man or woman and makes them, temporarily, able to stand the terrific tension of our maladjusted, modern life.

And does it all in the twinkling of an eye.

It's easy enough to fight the "pipe." The clumsiness of the smoking apparatus makes that form of addiction unpopular. We can manage to control the hypodermic, and morphine in pill or powder form works too slowly, and cocaine's too expensive. But heroin, the bootleg dregs of opium, that's different. One sniff—then the miracle.

And the temptation's so common—

Few of us are sad enough or sick enough to seek relief from pipe or hypo, but all of us feel the gnawing hunger which heroin relieves for a brief, mad moment. Not the temptation to kill or stick-'em-up—such criminal excesses are merely incidental to this menace. But the longing to "get a little more pep"—that's the thing that touches you and me and will touch our children.

The longing to be bright and efficient—how it gnaws at each one of us in these colorful days. How we envy the lucky ones who "get ahead"—how we wish we had their speed and courage and originality!

And there's the hellish danger of heroin. For heroin will give us what we want. That's why the weaklings take it. Why the school children sniff it for a lark, why the desperate, weary ones of the world seek its deceptive miracle.

For it does deceive—terribly. For a long while heroin masks as a blessing. It does not at once lay hold on the mind and paralyze the body as morphine does. There is not the immediate agony—the dizziness, nausea, nervous horror, loss of memory, weakness or depression—when one takes heroin.

The white snake bites gently—gently—the poison works slowly. But in the end, it's the most terrible habit of all and no drug victim falls to such foul depths as the victim of heroin.

Pride goes, honor goes, decency goes—there is nothing left but a raving, obscene, twitching mass of soulless flesh, mad as a rabid dog, that seeks but one thing in all God's great beautiful world—HEROIN—MORE HEROIN! Then more and more and MORE.

Stars Our Enemies?

By Garett P. Serviss,

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Subjects of Popular Interest.

THE "Millikan rays" have suddenly sprung to the forefront among speculative issues in the scientific "Street," and have attained almost in a moment a giddy height of visionary valorization without precedent in the records of hypothetical science.

On the one hand, purporting to proceed from a highly respected scientific source, we have the theory that these super X-rays from space, whose kinetic energy is so great that they easily penetrate six feet of solid lead, are the agents that supply and maintain the life-energy of all living cells.

On the other hand, but having a far less important origin, is the speculation, transmitted by cable from Europe, that these same rays may be the secret cause of cancer and other mysterious human ills.

The author of this last suggestion—a man who, it seems, has the "doctor's degree"—indulges in the following statements, which may be set down as curb market talk, in this sudden speculative whirlwind:

"All our organs, the heart, nerves, blood and brain are being continually modified by celestial X-rays coming from the stars, which abundantly emit these rays, exercise influence on the life organism of each of us.

"Is this influence good or bad? Either proposition could be sustained. It is possible that, through the atavistic pressure of habit the celestial X-rays have become one of the necessary conditions toward the maintenance of equilibrium.

"The inverse may be true, that contrary celestial X-rays may be entirely harmful, as are the X-rays of our laboratories, of which we cannot expose ourselves to long without running the risk of serious consequences, even to the point of contracting cancer.

"We, therefore, have good reason to ask ourselves whether the stars emitting celestial rays which act upon us incessantly are not the cause of human cancer, which we all know is especially frequent among elderly persons."

That might be recommended as a text for study by young authors desirous of learning the technique of "amazing story" writing, but it would be sharply turned down if presented as a specimen of scientific research, or of serious logical deduction.
